HIGH

Waters Do Great Damage.

Heavy Losses

Sustained by the Railroad Companies

While Individual Interests Also Suffer to the Extent of Millions.

The West Visited by One of the Most Disastrous Storm of Years—Big Levee Gives Away.

Des Moines July 10—The levee on the Raccoon river near Maury and Ka road streets commenced to weaken the water was flowing over and through it in a number of places [illegible] efforts were made to strength en it while nearly 1 000 residents of the district thus endangered fled for their lives in many cases leaving their household goods behind them

The Des Moines river reached the high water mark of 1892, which was 20 feet at midnight At that hour the levee on the north side of town broke flooding a large residence section Most of the families had moved out earlier in the evening A small break occurred in the Raccoon river levee early this morning and a large force of men is attempting to hold the flood in check Two Rock Island [illegible] passenger trains due here [illegible] at Commerce 20 miles west of [illegible] where the tracks are covered with water Trains on other roads [illegible] kept in motion The Des Moines river dam is weakening [illegible] out it will endanger four [illegible] railroad bridges

A Raging Torrent.

Omaha July 10—At Bennington the Papillion creek has risen from a sluggish stream to a torrent a mile in width in places A number of the houses in the [illegible] end of town have been washed from their foundations [illegible] were forced to abandon their homes Fifteen hundred feet of Elkhorn track in the river bottom [illegible] the right and several trains are blocked on both sides of the washout A great number of bridges have been washed out At Beatrice the situation is growing worse hourly and the flood threatens to go higher than in 1892 when half the town was submerged Water now stands eight feet deep in some houses and a number of cottages have been carried from their foundations No trains are coming in or leaving, and the Blue river is rising at the rate of three inches an hour A conservative estimate places the losses from floods in Nebraska at over $1,000 000, and may exceed twice that amount.

Much Damage Done.

Sioux City Ia July 10—Damage to the extent of many thousands of dollars has been done in the bottom lands southeast of Sioux City by floods Rain has ceased falling and the worst is believed to be over Railroads have suffered severely from washouts and their loss will be very heavy Farmers however are the greatest sufferers Small streams, usually a few yards wide, are now swollen rivers miles in width Reports from towns near by tell of heavy loss Oto, Hornic, Luton and Mapleton are flooded and surrounded by vast expanses of water

MOLTEN LEAD

TROUBLE

Between Railroads and Freight Men

Is Thoroughly Aired at a Conference Today

Some of the Strikers have Returned While Others Refuse—Teamsters Grow Sympathetic at Last.

Chicago July 10 The meeting of the local unions of freight handlers held this morning resulted in many instances in the men rejecting terms offered by the railroads While the companies agree not to discriminate against the union men they refuse to recognize their organization or to grant demands for a greater increase than was offered in the first proposals to compromise This refusal has angered the strikers A majority of them urge retaliatory measures and intemperate spirits are working the men up to a pitch that does not augur well for a peacable settlement

Quite a number of freight handlers returned to work this morning being dissatisfied with the manner in which negotiations were being conducted The first big sympathetic move on the part of the teamsters occurred this morning when 500 of them refused to haul away from the Burlington depot and freight house any freight handled by non-union men.

NOTE

Which Was Sent to Gov. Taft

By the Vatican

Rejects the Proposition Which was Made

Demanding the Recall of the Friars Within a Specified Period.

Says the Recall is Not Justified and Would be Contrary to Terms of Paris Treaty.

Rome July 10—The answer of the vatican to the note of Governor Taft, governor of the Philippine islands, concerning religious affairs in the archipelago, which was handed to Cardinal Rampolla papal secretary of state, July 3 was delivered to Judge Taft at a late hour

The answer of the vatican is compiled in the order of Judge Taft's note of July 3 First comes the note, which says that all the studies of the vatican were centered to render more clear more precise and definite the conditions between the holy see and the Philippine government. In fact, the note begs that if something further with this intent can be proposed, that it be freely expressed adding it would be considered with great pleasure The introduction proceeds in this tone until it comes to the question of the recall of the friars It then says the vatican can not accept the proposition to recall the friars within the fixed period Such recall not being justified by reasons of force majeure it would be contrary to the rights guaranteed by the treaty of Paris and would put the holy see in conflict with Spain

The contract for the transfer of the friar lands comprises 12 articles

GRAFTER

Does not Succeed in Holding up the President.

Oyster Bay July 10—Dr W C Root a village dentist has refused to turn over his office in the Bank building to President Roosevelt. His office occupies two thirds and the president's office one third of the second story The doctor said he would let the president have the rooms every day but Wednesday for a good stiff price but this was not satisfactory The presidential office force is much cramped in consequence

SERIOUS

Difference Over Friar Philippine Question.

Rome July 10—The discussion of the Philippine question by the cardinals is becoming so heated that serious differences have arisen A majority having the matter in charge will not concede to Gov Taft's demand for complete withdrawal of the friars from the islands This it is considered, defeats the Taft commission

MANY THOUSAND

Witnessed the Launching of the Big Seven Masted Schooner

The First Vessel of the Kind Ever Constructed Took Her Initial Plunge in Boston Harbor Today.

Boston, Mass, July 10—At the Fore River shipyard on the south shore of Boston harbor there was launched today the first seven-masted schooner ever built The initial plunge of the big vessel was witnessed by a crowd that numbered thousands

The ship is named the Thomas W Lawson in honor of the Boston copper man, whose family owns a considerable share in her She was built by Captain John G Crowley pioneer builder of large schooners, from designs by Bowdoin B Crowninshield, who planned Mr Lawson's Independence a year ago

The Lawson has benefitted from all the lessons taught by experience with her big predecessors The keelson has been made unnecessary by constructing her hull of steel Thus her earning capacity has been increased very considerably The crew expense has been cut practically in half by the introduction of engines to manage all the sails to handle the enormous anchors and do stevedore work. She is provided with a double bottom, which is delivered into water tight departments as a protection against accidents, and which can be filled with water ballast if she sails light laden She is lighted by electricity and steered by steam

The heads of the seven masts are 105 feet above the wood-covered steel deck the topmasts being Oregon pine spars, 58 feet long and the lower steel cylinders 32 inches in diameter at the bottom, which is 30 feet below the wooden decking Each mast weights 17 tons bare and will weigh nearly 20 when fully rigged The seven master has two decks of steel covered with wood Although her carrying capacity is 8100 tons Her displacement is 10 000 tons and she spreads 43,000 square feet of sail, yet by the use of the engines she need but 16 men in her crew including her master and her engineers. She will cost when completed an ever $250 000

The fire consumed a whole block occupied by the P MacIntosch cereal warehouse Besides the list of firemen dead, there may be some citizens in the debris but it is impossible at this time to tell The loss will be many hundred thousand dollars

ADVANCED

The Carrying Rates on all Dairy Products.

Chicago, Ill, July 10—Freight rates on butter eggs cheese and poultry were advanced to normal basis today by western railroads The advance ranges from 20 to 35 cents per 100 pounds from St Paul and Missouri river points to Chicago with comparitive increases from intermediate points It is conservatively estimated that 1 000 000 pounds of butter, cheese eggs and poultry are received in Chicago daily and about 75 per cent of the traffic goes east. The advance in rates averages about $4 per ton, making a daily increase in the revenues of the railroads from this traffic of $2,000 a day or about three-quarters of a million dollars per annum

The Weather.

WARNS

The Miners Against the Wiles of

The Operators

Whom He Says Have a Press Bureau

President Mitchell Talks Encouragingly to Mine Workers.

Few Law Breakers are to Found Among the Union Men Who are Out in the Strike.

Wilkesbarre Pa July 10—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, in an address before the 400 delegates of District No 1 in convention at Nanticoke, Pa said he had never participated in a strike in which he was so confident of success This statement by the miners' chief was greeted with great applause The national president severely criticised the Citizens Alliance organizations which have been formed at Scranton and Wilkesbarre for the purpose of prosecuting persons who boycott or otherwise intimidate men still working in the mines, or their relatives President Mitchell was enthusiastically received in Nanticoke He went there for the sole purpose of addressing the men, and returned to headquarters here immediately after concluding his remarks He took no part in the proceedings of the convention Mr Mitchell's address in part is as follows

It may not be amiss for me to make a few comments upon the situation as it presents itself to me and also to point out some of the means that are being used to discourage and injure you The coal operators have organized a press bureau and are constantly sending out through it what purports to be interviews with and statements from them, while as a matter of fact there is not a coal operator in the entire region who will stand responsible for any of the statements

The operators have also organized another adjunct under the name of the Citizens Alliance I am sure I do not know how many citizens are members of this mysterious organization, as so far only one has had the manhood or the effrontery to acknowledge his membership I of course, hesitate to criticise men for doing anything they have a legal right to do but when an organization of the citizens of any community is formed the alleged purpose of which is the maintenance of law and order and when it develops that the entire energies of the organization are directed against the coal strikers, it arouses a suspicion to say the least in my mind that the name of the association is a misnomer and the alleged purpose a cloak under which the so-called citizens have joined forces with the coal operators in a damnable attempt to crush the miners' union. Is it not rather strange that this organization was not formed at any time during the 25 years in which the anthracite coal companies were blacklisting boycotting and driving from their homes and families all men who dared to assert their rights and join a labor organization? Again did anyone ever hear of the Citizens Alliance proceeding against the [illegible] trust when it threatened to close the mines of the independent operators by refusing to give them railway cars simply because some independent operators had [illegible] in the strike one year ago? Moreover did this great Citizens Alliance attempt to prevent the illegal efforts that the coal corporations are making to cause the defeat of every candidate for membership in the legislature of the state of Pennsylvania who advocated or favored labor measures in the last session?

Personally, I stand always and under all circumstances for law and order our organization advocates full and complete observance of the laws of our country, and I want to declare emphatically that, as law abiding citizens as patriotic liberty loving citizens, the members of the miners' unions are second to none and while there may be some among us who have transgressed the law let me say emphatically that the proportion of law breakers in the ranks of the miners is no greater than in the ranks of business professional or any other element in our country

And now gentlemen permit me to warn you, and through you the miners of the anthracite region that no attention whatever should be paid to the silly reports that are being sent out that the strike is about to collapse or that men want to resume work These same predictions emanating from exactly the same source have been made through the columns of the press each day during the past month and yet every mine is idle and let me say that every mine will remain idle until this strike is settled

FIRE

Does Damage to a House in

Wapakoneta

Building was Dry and Burned Like Tinder.

Boxwell Graduates have Arranged for a Big Time Next Saturday.

St. Marys Man Awarded Contract for Erection of the New Gas Generator Factory—Other Wapakoneta News.

Wapakoneta, Ohio, July 10.—The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon about three o'clock for a small fire in the west end. An out building belonging to John Rinehart was discovered in flames and being dry as tinder was almost destroyed before the fire department reached the scene. They then directed their efforts to saving the barn across the alley, belonging to Mike Zwiebel, with success. Rinehart's loss is about $250.

A NEW SYSTEM.

The Boxwell graduates from all over the county will hold their commencement exercises at this place Saturday and an entirely new plan of holding commencements will be introduced. Instead of the old way of having the graduates step up and receive their diplomas with a bow, the entire day will be spent in educational recreation at the fair grounds where a general picnic will be held. The promoters of this idea have taken advantage of the commencement to make it a day for a general reunion of the educators and literary people of the county, at which ministers, teachers, pupils and their parents will be present. Matters of educational importance will be discussed and the occasion is intended to bring teachers, pupils and parents into closer relationship. The fair grounds have been secured for the whole day and people are expected to bring their dinners with them to eat in the grove, and in case of rain permission has been granted to use the different buildings. In the afternoon the commencement exercises will be held, and Supt. C. C. Miller, of Lima, will deliver the class address to thirty-nine students assembled from all parts of the county. A general invitation has been extended to all.

SOON TO BEGIN.

It will not be long now until work will commence on the buildings of the Krein factory in this city. William F. Brodbeck, of St. Marys, has been awarded the contract for the sum of $12,560, and work is to commence immediately. The factory will manufacture a gas generator and appliances, on which they hold the patents and have guaranteed to hire at least 150 men daily for the first year and possibly increase. This factory will certainly prove beneficial to the business interests of this city as it will bring in from 200 to 300 people, as they will be unable to find skilled labor here not employed. There is not a man or boy in the city that has not work of some kind, and the Western Ohio Railway company is after all they can get.

A WEST POINTER.

Among the large list of appointments of President Roosevelt last week, of cadets at large to the United States Military academy at West Point, was found the name of Frederick T. Dickman, son of Capt. Jos. T. Dickman, 8th Cavalry, a graduate of West Point, from this city.

CAR CHARTERED.

The Kasselberg club, of this city, have chartered a car for this evening and expect to attend the Lima Elks' carnival in a body, accompanied by the city band. The local members of the Elks will also attend in a body, probably along with the Kasselbergs.

PERSONAL.

Misses Della Carmen and Dora Seitz and Mr. Emil Koop spent last evening in Lima with friends.

Miss Martha Shuler is making an extended visit with her aunt, Mrs. Heffern, of Lima.

Miss Clara Hummel has been the guest of St. Marys friends for a few days.

THE COOKBOOK.

In baking bread it is better to overdo rather than underdo the work.

To make a good digestible pie crust use cream instead of lard, and it will be light and healthful.

If there is not batter enough to fill the gem pan, put cold water in the empty space before setting the pan in the oven.

The rich cheeses, which have the largest percentage of fat, are those which blend well with bread in sandwiches or with macaroni or rice.

For a quick cake beat until thick four eggs. Add four tablespoonfuls of sugar, half a cup of flour, a little cinnamon and lemon rind. Beat well and spread on a baking pan. Bake in quick oven and cut at once.

Sweet potatoes are much richer twice cooked. Baked or boiled merely, this vegetable is good, but when the baking or boiling is followed by a subsequent cooking in the pan or in the oven they are far better.

A fine cheese pudding is made by grating five ounces of bread and three of cheese. Warm two ounces of butter in a quarter of a pint of fresh milk and mix thoroughly. Add two well beaten eggs, salt and bake half an hour.

Gilders, photographers and those who handle the hydric and potassic cyanides are liable to suffer from chronic poisoning by hydrocyanic acid. They have headache, giddiness, noises in the ear, difficult respiration, pain over the heart, loss of appetite—in short, show all the evidences of mild poisoning. Zinc workers, too, suffer. Zinc is used as a pigment in calico printing, in discoloring glass, in polishing optical glasses and in making artificial meerschaum pipes.

So men die in harness in these and a hundred other occupations, killed by the very air they breathe, and other men step into their shoes.—New York World.

When you wake up with a bad taste in your mouth, go at once to Wm. M. Melville's drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They also cure biliousness, sick headache and constipation.

A NEW PHILANTHROPIST

Traits of Millionaire John M. Burke of New York.

RETIRING AND DISLIKES DISPLAY

Donor of Millions to Found a Home For Convalescents Noted For His Kind Deeds to Man and Beast—Sent His Cook Abroad For Her Health. Great Lover of His Horses and Dogs—All Have Life Tenures.

After living for ninety years in New York city without being known as a man of especially large wealth John Masterson Burke burst upon public attention the other day as a multimillionaire who could give $4,000,000 to found a home for convalescents and still retain many millions—just how many his lawyer, Frederick H. Denham, will not say.

Mr. Burke has just celebrated his birthday, says the New York World. The few who knew him well said that all his life he had been opposed to display or ostentation in every form. He would be much disturbed by the prominence given to his name and his charity in the newspapers, they said.

Perhaps one reason why the announcement of Mr. Burke's large wealth was received with so much general surprise is because the tax department never has assessed him on more than $40,000 personal property. He never figured in any official list of millionaires compiled from the usual sources. The deeds of many parcels of real estate from Mr. Burke to the Winifred Masterson Burke Relief foundation have been filed in the register's office. On the authority of his attorney, Mr. Denham, it can be said that the real estate represents less than half of the four million dollar benefaction. More than $2,000,000 has been turned over to the trustees of the corporation in securities, which are personal property.

Mr. Burke, according to the best information obtainable, has at least $1,000,000 left after his munificent charity gift. He owns thousands of acres of western lands. He owns great blocks of stock in railroads like the Chicago and Northwestern, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the old Chicago and Omaha. He had at one time a single block of 4,000 shares of Chicago and Omaha, and in speaking of this and his western land holdings one of his intimate friends said, "I know he has got this block of stock and the lands which he bought when railroad building in the northwest first began because Mr. Burke was a man who never sold anything."

Always leading the quietest and most simple life, Mr. Burke was a great foe to what he considered waste. In this classification he put unnecessary expenditures of money, such as ornamentation in residences and institutions, tips to waiters, the paying of fancy prices for articles. He was frugal, and his personal expenditures for living never exceeded $1,500 a year. Withal he has always been charitable and a generous giver, but always in secret.

St. Luke's hospital, in New York, was in Mr. Burke's mind for many years as the final beneficiary of his large wealth. Some years ago he signed a will which made St. Luke's the residuary legatee of his estate. When St. Luke's left the immediate neighborhood of Mr. Burke's residence, where he had watched the hospital work for many years, he was much interested.

In the new building on Morningside heights he decided there was a waste, a waste of money on mere ornamentation which should have been devoted to the actual purposes of the institution—relieving the sick. He had the will destroyed.

It is specified in the papers which have been finally signed and which mark the inauguration of one of the greatest charities recorded even in this present decade of great undertakings that not one penny shall be spent on architectural beauty, decoration or furnishing of the home for convalescents which may be saved and used for the actual administrative expenses of the institution. The walls outside and inside will be severely plain. No decorative artist or expensive interior furnisher will have a chance to make a profit out of the Burke foundation, which starts with $4,000,000 and will receive the bulk of the millionaire's remaining great fortune when he dies.

Mr. Burke's little household comprises, besides himself, Miss Bicento Fensley, the daughter of Captain Fensley, a once wealthy California merchant who died after losing most of his money; his housekeeper Annie and his cook Ann. Annie has been with him for forty years. Ann is a comparative newcomer in the household. She entered Mr. Burke's service twenty-five years ago. Last summer Mr. Burke sent Ann, the cook, over to Ireland to see her folks. He said it would do her good, and he paid all the expenses of the trip.

Miss Fensley read the newspapers to the philanthropist the other day. She also read to him some of the letters which arrived. There were 200 of them. All of them were from persons who had never seen the millionaire. Most of them were appeals for money. They amused Mr. Burke.

Late in the afternoon Miss Fensley said: "A hunchback has walked past this house, up and down the street, for two hours today. He would look up at the windows every time he passed. Then he went across the street and gazed as if he would look through the walls of the house and the window curtain."

"'Poor fellow,' said Mr. Burke. 'Why didn't you call him in? I would have helped him if he was in distress.'"

Those who know him best say that Mr. Burke is extraordinarily warm hearted. He has few friends because he has outlived most of them, but those who remain are enthusiastic in praise of his character. His two servants are devoted to him. Miss Fensley has taken the place of a daughter and has ministered to his wants most devotedly for many years. Mr. Burke's sister, Mrs. Just, lived the remaining years of her widowhood in the house on Forty-seventh street and died two years ago. Miss Fensley, who had been almost a member of the household before that, has lived there ever since.

The love which Mr. Burke lavished on his friends and intimates is extended to the dogs and horses that he owns. On his farm of sixty-five acres near Mount Vernon there are a dozen Hambletonians, most of which have never been broken or shod. They run wild on the place. A couple of horses are used in the farm work and are attached to the carriage when it goes to the train to meet him. But there is no work for the others and so they live in a horses' paradise.

They were born and bred on his place, and the millionaire would as soon think of parting with them as with a child. The cows and the pigs and the chickens on the farm have the same sort of treatment. They live and die there. Nothing ever is sold. Mr. Burke never sold anything, either land or stocks or animals or the most useless of his possessions. When he bought, he bought carefully after shrewd calculation. All his investments have been successful. He has been piling up wealth for more than sixty years.

Until his retirement from business Mr. Burke was a director in the Chicago and Northwestern and several other railroads. One of his intimate friends today is M. L. Sykes, until recently vice president of the Chicago and Northwestern. He frequently went to Chicago with Mr. Sykes to attend meetings of boards of directors, and Mr. Sykes often teased Mr. Burke for little peculiarities displayed on these trips.

When other directors on leaving the train would give their satchels to porters to carry, Mr. Burke always clung to his carpetbag and took it to the hotel, thus saving the tip. There was always an expensive luncheon served after each one of these directors' meetings. It was Mr. Burke's habit to take half a dozen lumps of cut sugar from the table on each occasion, put them in his pocket and bring them back to New York. Then he would go to his farm in Mount Vernon and pull down the bars to the field in which his horses run wild.

The animals would run to him. They kicked up their heels and fled whenever any one else let down those bars, but they ran to the millionaire and sometimes poked their soft noses into his pockets even before he could produce the sugar for them.

Once, coming home from Chicago, Mr. Sykes demonstrated with his friend about the abstraction of the cut sugar. Mr. Burke replied with great earnestness:

"But my horses like it, and it wasn't wanted on the table. Everybody had all the sugar he wanted."

Mr. Burke had several Irish setters on his Mount Vernon farm, and when one of them became so old and decrepit that it was necessary to end his life out of pity the owner always demurred strongly. He was affected to tears one day when he assented finally to the killing of a setter which was so feeble that he could not stand upon his feet.

The farm is known as Bonnybrae and is next to that owned by Judge Mills of Westchester county. The overseer, who is known to all the neighbors on the White Plains road as John, is devoted to Mr. Burke. He has been in his present position longer than most Mount Vernon people can remember, and his son, who was named after the owner, John Burke, is growing up now.

Of this new philanthropist it may be said that he is "the youngest old man in New York." For all his ninety years he does not look a day over sixty. There is not a wrinkle in his face. His complexion is rosy and like a girl's. A woman friend said to him only a few days ago:

"Mr. Burke, if my cheeks were as red as yours people would say I painted them." The old man laughed.

Every tooth in his head is sound as a nut. His heart is strong. He is about 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. His eye is clear, and he uses spectacles when he reads newspapers more as a rest for the eyes than from necessity. His brain is active as it ever was, and he takes an interest in everything in the way of current topics, especially politics.

Motor Balks Sleuths.

It would have been impossible for Mme. Humbert to get away from Paris save in the complete disguise of a regulation automobilist, says a writer in the Motoring Illustrated. Her face was too well known. I am convinced the escape was made on a motor car. With mask and goggles she was safe. An automobilist's rigout is so natural and innocent a circumstance that it would throw detectives and police entirely off the scent.

Novel Riddance of Beggars.

The authorities of Lisbon recently took a strange step to relieve the Portuguese capital of loafers and beggars, says the San Francisco Argonaut. These children of leisure were gathered together, dumped into a steamer and deported to the Portuguese colonies in Africa.

Honor For an American.

Professor Horatio W. Parker of Yale has accepted the task of furnishing an oratorio for solos, chorus and orchestra for the Norwich (England) musical festival next fall.

GREENE AND GAYNOR.

Delays in Extradition Will Be the Subject of Diplomatic Note.

Washington, July 10.—The extradition case of Benjamin D. Greene and John F. Gaynor, whose removal from Canada to the state of Georgia for trial on charges of misappropriating and embezzlement of over $3,000,000 in connection with river and harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga., has been sought for some time in the United States, will take on a diplomatic phase in a few days, when Secretary Hay communicates to the British government the opinion of our officials of the department of justice that the Canadian authorities are pursuing an extraordinary and unwarranted course in the case.

Freight Handlers' Strike.

Chicago, July 10.—The strike of the 9,000 freight handlers employed in the freight houses and depots of the 24 railroads centering in Chicago may soon be declared off. The strikers held a meeting to consider a proposition submitted by the railroad managers. The proposition was refused in part, but a counter proposition is being presented which, it is hoped, will put an end to the controversy. It is said a majority of the strikers wish to return to work.

Must Comply With the Law.

Washington, July 10.—The comptroller of the treasury decided that the salaries and expenses of the Louisiana Purchase exposition commission could not be paid until the provision of the act appropriating $5,000,000 for the exposition, which requires "as a condition precedent that the directors shall contract to close the gates to visitors on Sunday during the whole duration of the fair," is executed.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer.

Washington, July 10 — The navy department has received telegrams from the Union Iron works and from Lieutenant Fenton of the trial board at San Francisco, announcing that the torpedo boat destroyer Paul Jones had passed a successful trial. The lieutenant says, "official trial maximum speed 28.91 knots on 336 revolutions and 7,969 horsepower; 27.42 knots for one hour at 322 revolutions."

Naming of Battleships.

Washington, July 10.—It is probable that the battleship to be built at the New York navy yard will be named "Connecticut." Secretary Moody has been advised that it is desirable to have the four big ships just authorized named as soon as possible and he probably will assign the names of the states selected Connecticut, Tennessee, Louisiana and Washington, to the vessels in a few days.

Killed by Heat.

New York, July 10.—The police records up to 9 p. m. showed that seven people had been killed and 11 prostrated by the heat in Manhattan. In Brooklyn, where some street thermometers registered 95 degrees at 3 p. m., two deaths and five prostrations were reported.

Broomcorn Burned.

Urbana, O., July 10.—During a storm here lightning struck the warehouse of the White Valentine Broom company and set fire to the broomcorn. There were 125 tons of corn just placed in the warehouse, which was destroyed. Loss $20,000, insured for $10,000.

King Still Improving.

London, July 10 — King Edward's progress is reported as uninterruptedly favorable. His majesty reclines on a movable couch most of the day. Some of his physicians are still in constant attendance upon him.

A PIANO TYPEWRITER.

Device Designed to Print What Is Played on It.

INVENTION OF BUFFALO MUSICIAN

Machine, Which Has About Three Thousand More Parts Than a Typewriter, Is Intended to Be a Great Aid to Arrangers of Music For Orchestras and Composers.

A Buffalo boy, Paul Cienanth, is the inventor of what he calls the piano typewriter, a machine that writes what is played on the piano The contrivance is patented, and if his plans are carried out a factory will be built in Rochester soon to make the typewriters, says the Philadelphia North American He is confident he has succeeded in accomplishing what many men have failed to do He was born in Allegany a little more than twenty years ago He has worked on the machine for six years His grandfather, August A Langenbahn is a sculptor, having designed the Blucher monument in Forest Lawn and other noted pieces

The young man is a musician and so knows just what he had to overcome in attaining success John Schuler a composer of music examined the drawings and said he felt sure the machine would do all the inventor claimed for it He compared it as being to the piano what wireless telegraphy is to long distance communication

As explained by the inventor the machine has about 3,000 more parts than a typewriter but notwithstanding that is certain in its action and not likely to get out of order It is designed to print in the conventional music characters just what is played on the piano to which it is attached A lever serves to put the mechanism into operation Then turning another lever to put the time beater into the same time the piece is to be played, nothing remains to be done but to play the piece

First a clef would be printed Then automatically the time would be marked Then note for note as the piece progressed it would be exactly reproduced on the staff marked paper At the end of each measure a bar would be drawn on the treble and base lines If a measure was not finished, a rest of the proper time would be marked Every pedal movement would be recorded Crescendos and diminuendos slurs sharps, naturals flats and leger and grace notes would be printed in the exact order of their occurrence Mechanical precision would mark every motion of the player that affected the music Nothing would escape the mechanism At the end the paper would contain the music of just what had been played even to the mistakes

The machine is designed to aid arrangers of music for bands and orchestras Composers too would find it a great aid But perhaps the greatest result the machine would accomplish would be to preserve improvisations especially those of the great players of the world By it Paderewski's feats of manual dexterity would be recorded so that the sheet music of just what he played could be published cheaply

With the true improvisors one can readily see the possibilities It will catch the spontaneous outbursts of melody that so often result when one toys with the keys for inspiration It will give to the world harmony the music of the soul, untarnished by any evidence of studied arrangement. It would recover the lost chord

RAFFAELLI'S PAINT STICKS.

French Artist Exhibits His Invention at His Paris Studio.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that J F Raffaelli the well known painter recently described and exhibited at his studio in Paris the curious discovery which he has made in connection with oil painting

M Raffaelli declared that he had always been struck by the inconveniences and complications in the practice of oil painting, which were greater out of doors than in a studio The cleaning of brushes and the mixing of colors broke the continuity of the painter's thought On the other hand, in pastels the color lost its tone, even though the picture were placed under glass

The artist then showed the contrivance which he has invented, by which oil paints are used in small solid sticks. He claims that this invention combines the advantages of pastels with those of oil painting.

After explaining the invention M Raffaelli painted a small picture with his paint sticks, and M Bernard, the great colorist, exclaimed

"It is wonderful! It is a revolution in oil painting!"

A New System of Typewriting.

A new and evidently rather difficult system of teaching typewriting has been inaugurated in the Jersey schools for that sort of thing says the New York Press It is teaching or causing the pupil to acquire the study by feeling alone. "It is just like music," said the woman who had learned how and the one who was listening rapt to her explanation could not regard her as less than inspired It seems that the girls who are learning this hard thing do not look at the keyboard but go entirely by the finger tips The keys are not raised or in any way different from the usual ones, but the student is supposed to finally learn their location by association and thus to become expert. The advantages of this kind of skill are said to be marked increase in the speed movements and consequently more pay for the work done.

AN ENORMOUS CROWD

In Attendance Upon National Educational Convention.

OVER TWENTY THOUSAND PRESENT.

Fifteen Meetings Held, and All of Them Well Attended—An Official of the London Education Office Among the Speakers — Archbishop Ireland Delivers an Address.

Minneapolis, July 10 —The number of visitors in attendance at the National Educational convention is placed at 20,000 or over

The meetings have all been well attended, and when it is stated that there were 15 of them it will be readily seen that the crowd is an enormous one Nearly every department of the association has held a meeting and the real work of the convention proper is in full blast

Of the seven department meetings held the one of most general interest was the special educational meeting at the Hennepin Avenue Methodist Episcopal church Dr Jordan, superintendent of the Minneapolis schools, made the address of welcome and Dr Davis Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone and president of the department responded Among the other speakers was W T Harris United States commissioner of education who spoke shortly on Eye-mindedness

At the evening session of the entire convention in the Exposition building the attendance probably did not fall far short of 10 000 people The Hon Michael Ernest Sadler LL D director of inquiries and reports education office London England was the first speaker For nearly an hour he spoke of the work along educational lines and showed that there is a close relationship between the work and the workers in the two countries Archbishop Ireland of St Paul spoke on the Influence and Responsibility of the Teacher

At the next general session James Wilson secretary of agriculture, Mrs Carrie Chatt of New York and Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell university will speak The address of the latter it is thought will be of more than usual interest, as he will speak on 'Education in the Philippines" a subject with which as head of the United States Philippine commission he is familiar

The Home of the Kindergarten.

The Japanese have the most perfect kindergarten system in the world In fact, they originated this method of instructing by entertainment instead of by punishment inflicted Their play apparatus for such purpose is elaborate, but all of it is adapted to the infant mind which it is designed at once to amuse and to inform The little ones of Japan even become somewhat interested in mathematics by seeing and feeling what a pretty thing a cone a sphere or a cylinder is when cut out of wood with a lathe They make outlines of solid figures out of straw, with green peas to hold the joints together, and for the instruction of the blind flat blocks are provided with the Japanese characters raised upon them

The Toledo Blade man makes a cruel thrust at the members of the State Bar association when he says:

The Democrats of this district will meet in convention for the third time, on July 15th, with the view of nominating a candidate for Congress, and this time the block and tackle or judgment scales will swing at Wapakoneta. It is a fact that the two tests already made, one at Celina and one at Sidney, failed to determine anything for sure except a "deadlock," and one, if past records count for anything, that is not likely to be uplifted unless one of the candidates in the field withdraws. But who will it be? Echo answers, "Who?"—Greenville Democrat

So inadequate is the supply of domestic wool for clothing, that in the last ten months of the fiscal year the importation of foreign clothing wool amounted to nearly sixty-five million pounds, besides seventy eight million pounds of carpet wool. Some of the carpet wool was doubtless diverted to the manufacture of clothing fabrics. The importation of clothing wool is more than double that of the same period of the preceding fiscal year. Yet this is small in comparison with the imports when wool was free was the Wilson tariff. Then the woolen clothing of the American people was pure and abundant. Now, in consequence of the inadequate supply of wool by reason of the decline of the domestic production and the high duties on imports the woolen clothing is largely adulterated with cotton and other substitutes.

The United States has now over 200,000 miles of railway. The 2,314 built in the first six months of 1902 bring the total mileage, says the "Railway Age," up to 201,839. Building goes on at a faster pace than last year. The record for the present half year is 500 miles ahead of that of the first six months of 1901. And if the present rate of construction continues, the record for the 12 months of 1902 will be over 6,000 miles, as against 5,322 miles in 1901. The South and Southwest still lead with 1083 miles out of the total of 2,314 in the last six months. Texas built 236 miles, Oklahoma 211 miles, Indian Territory 211 miles, New Mexico 190 miles, Arkansas 178 miles, Georgia 125 miles, Louisiana 102 miles, Illinois 100 miles, and Florida 97 miles. Pennsylvania reports only 86 miles, but this is nearly three times that of New York, and five times that of Ohio, and equals that of all States west of Illinois and north of the Southern belt of railroad building States.

THE TEST OF COMPARISON.

When put to the test of common sense the Ohio Republican platform, manufactured at Washington and transported to Cleveland by the junta with great care, is found to be deficient in more than one respect.

There is, for instance, the unqualified indorsement of the "wise, economic and patriotic legislature" which is soon to be called into extraordinary session to correct some of the unwise, expensive and unpatriotic work of former Republican legislature as well as some of its own blunders. If the legislature had been as wise, economic and patriotic as the Republican platform claims for it, so much valuable time would not have been consumed at heavy expense to the state in acting as a city-council-at-large by passing ripper bills for the various cities, and it would not now be called upon to undo much that has been done and to do so much that was left undone.

But other faults are easily found with the Republican platform constructed by the junta at Washington for consumption in Ohio, faults that are not invisible to good Republicans. One of these is pointed out by Editor I. F. Mack, of the Sandusky Register in a recent issue of his paper, in the following terse language:

The Nebraska Republican state convention indorsed the administration of the president and his reciprocity policy with Cuba in this brief, plain and easily understood plank: "We heartily indorse the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt. We especially command the justice and wisdom of his reciprocity policy with Cuba as embodied in his message to congress." How much more sensible this brief and plain plank is than the wordy and almost meaningless plank adopted by the Republican convention of Ohio at Cleveland.

Brother Mack might have gone just a step farther and explained why the Ohio Republican platform is so wordy and meaningless in its indorsement of President Roovelt's administration. Mr. Hanna did not want to be accused of ignoring the president and he did not want to bubble over with praise that might damn him in 1904, so he had Dick and Grosvenor stuff the administration paragraph with a conglomeration of words and ponderous platitudes.

Other planks in the platform were treated in much the same way. It might be said of the document that it is an overproduction of words.—Columbus Press.

Cuba Tranquil.

Washington, July 10. — Minister Quesada of Cuba, in an interview on conditions in the island, said. "Not only is the island tranquil from one end to the other, but the people are determined to continue quiet, no matter how much their suffering, because they know that internal disorder means the sacrifice of Cuban independence I am not now speaking from mere conjecture. I know that all the prominent generals in every section of the island have communicated to President Palma their purpose to uphold the administration. The governors of all the provinces have reported to President Palma that their localities are free from disorder."

Railroads Storing Coal.

Indianapolis, July 10.—During the last few days the Big Four railroad has shipped over 500 carloads of coal into this city. The coal has been unloaded on the ground, both at the Brightwood shops and the Shelby street round house. Officials of the road said that before the end of the week the amount of coal the company would have in this city would be doubled. The Big Four road is not the only road in this city that is storing coal All the yards are crowded with coal cars, the coal coming from all parts of the country and men are working night and day unloading the cars and storing the coal at different shops.

PROTECTION OF LABOR

Republican Methods Embrace Low Wages and High Prices.

THE CASE OF THE COAL MINERS.

President Mitchell Exposes the False and Misleading Statements of the Coal Barons—Producer and Consumer the Prey of the Railroad Trust.

President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America has issued a strong, conservative statement in reply to the letters published by the mine operators. He gives as the reason for holding back this statement of the miners' case, "We have hesitated to utter any word or to take any position that would impede or embarrass easy reconciliation with the coal operators." Every effort was made by the miners to settle the matter in dispute by arbitration, but every proposition was met by the operators with the reply that there was really nothing to arbitrate. This puts the whole responsibility for the strike upon the coal magnates

Mr. Mitchell shows that the mine workers are the most poorly paid laborers in any important American industry. They work less than 200 days in a year, receiving $1.42 for a day of ten hours. The annual earnings of a worker are less than $300. President Mitchell comments:

"Such pay may supply a living on a par with some classes of European laborers, but who will say that it is sufficient to support American citizenship or enable parents to educate and properly maintain their families?"

The 10 per cent increase in wages granted two years ago by the operators has not benefited the miners. A large portion of the advance was paid back to the companies. Moreover, the cost of living has increased from 30 to 40 per cent, so that the purchasing power of miners' wages is less than before the strike of 1900. The assertion of the coal magnates that the efficiency of mine workers had decreased 12½ per cent in 1901 is contradicted by the official reports, which show a decided increase in the output per man.

The railroad presidents who form the coal trust claim that they cannot pay the mine workers decent wages without raising the price of coal to consumers and thus causing great hardship. This generous consideration for the consuming public has not been conspicuous in the conduct of the coal barons heretofore. Mr Mitchell points to the rise in the price of coal since the strike began and shows the hypocrisy of the operators affected solicitude. From the government reports he shows that the coal companies have made larger profits than ever before. Accepting President Olyphant's statement that the cost of mining coal for 1901 has increased 13 cents per ton, it is obvious that the coal companies are not losing anything when they have been selling coal at an advance of 39 cents per ton above the price of 1900. This enormous increase has been extorted from the consumer while no increase in wages has been given. When the miners make a reasonable demand for more wages, the operators suddenly become very solicitous for the consumer, whom they have so cheerfully robbed heretofore, and appeal to the people for sympathy in their struggle against the labor unions which would advance the price of coal by demanding a living wage for the mine workers. Such devotion to the public interest is inspiring!

The offer made by President Baer of the coal trust to submit its books to the examination of the labor unions to prove that the earnings of the miners would not permit an increase of wages appears very fair at first sight. President Mitchell shows the brazen impudence of the proposition as follows:

"Eighty-five or 90 per cent of all coal produced in the anthracite regions is from mines owned and operated by the various coal carrying railroads. The freight charges for hauling a ton of anthracite coal one mile are three times as great as those of other roads for hauling a ton of bituminous coal one mile, and as a consequence the coal departments, while actually earning enormous profits on a legitimate business, may and do appear to be losing money, for the reason that the railway departments absorb the profits of the coal departments by charging the coal departments exorbitant freight rates. They thus rob Peter to pay Paul. It cannot be said in extenuation that there is any peculiar necessity for this triple charge on hard coal, for all other kinds of freight, very much more troublesome to handle and more perishable, are carried at a far lower rate."

No one can accuse Mr. Mitchell of exaggeration or intemperance of language. On the contrary, he has rather understated than overstated the facts and has used language too mild to express the conditions. Anthracite coal can be carried at less cost and trouble than can almost any other commodity because it is easier to handle and practically imperishable.

When the coal companies sell coal, they are not given to overloading. When they haul coal, they call 2,240 pounds a ton, but when they pay the miner they demand that 2,740 to 3,190 pounds shall be called a ton. The operators claim this extra amount is to make up for unmarketable impurities. This would be just if it were true. In fact, the companies deduct 10 to 15 per cent from the earnings of the miners for any refuse that may be loaded All the miners ask is that the coal they produce shall be honestly weighed and correctly recorded

Statistics prove that the miner's life is one of great hardship and risk, yet he receives lower pay than almost any other class of laborers The protectionists have the miner's good very much at heart. It is a wonder the Dingley law didn't put a duty on anthracite coal in order to "protect" the miners, although not a pound of anthracite coal is produced outside of the United States. Such a piece of legislation would be of the same piece with the "protective" duties on wheat, corn, oats and other farm products exported by the United States in large quantities and never imported practically. No doubt the wise protectionist will ascribe the hard conditions of the miner's lot in the anthracite belt to the fact that nature made it impossible for Mr. Dingley to "protect" him from the importation of anthracite produced by European "pauper labor." But the protectionists have not forgotten the miner. They have protected everything the miner uses, so that he has to pay 25 to 100 per cent more to live. Then they tell him how comfortable and happy he is, all because he is "protected." The miner is beginning to see that he has been made a dupe by these wily myrmidons of the trusts.

The most important factor in the anthracite question, however, is the railroads. The flagrant violations of every principle of fair dealing by the coal roads must be stopped. It can and will be done. The Republican party has always legislated for the big producer, never for the wage earner and the consumer. The Republican leaders in Pennsylvania know very well that the coal roads own and operate the mines in open violation of the law. Republicans everywhere know that the coal trust is one of the worst of all the evil trusts yet they make no move to use the power of government to curb this band of outlaws. The Democratic party has taken its stand boldly for "a fair field and no favor." It has pledged itself to put an end to monopolistic restraints upon trade. The miners have had enough of paying tribute to the trusts in the shape of higher prices and lower wages. They are ready to vote for the principles of true Democracy, honest government economically administered for the benefit of the people, instead of the protected trusts.

This is a platform broad enough and solid enough to support the ranks of united Democracy.

A Striking Resemblance.

The Republican newspapers claim that it is all nonsense talking about imperialism in this country, and yet it should be noted that the president sends his family home on the Dolphin, manned by the sailors of our navy, and another fine vessel is being fitted up for a summer cruise for the president. Governor Leonard Wood came home from Cuba on a similar ship and had it at his service when governor of Cuba. This ship was described as most luxuriously fitted up. It may not be imperialism, but it has all the pomp and power of an emperor and his satellites.

A Slogan That Doesn't Fit.

Notwithstanding Republican pledges the Fifty-seventh, like the Fifty-sixth, congress has done nothing to lower the tariff on trust productions, and Mr. Hanna says "keep on letting well enough alone." This may be well enough for the foreigners who can buy the trust articles cheaper than we can; but, then, Republican rule comes high if we must pay it.

TRACY STILL AT LARGE.

Posse Returns From Renton After a Fruitless Search.

Seattle, Wash., July 10.—Convict Harry Tracy has again succeeded in eluding officers pursuing him, sheriff Sudihee has called in the guards from the southern suburbs, leaving only a sufficient number for careful patrol. It is believed that Cudihee expects the convict, if he reappears at all, to show up in another part of the country. The posse that started from Renton with the bloodhounds returned after a fruitless search.

The posse has been scouring the country between Renton and Black river junction. Guards have been stationed at every road in this section. It is believed that Tracy will soon make his appearance at some house and demand food, as he is known to be without supplies. The rumor that Merrill has joined his murderous comrade can not be substantiated.

The marshal of Renton and a deputy sheriff have captured three suspicious looking individuals at Renton. The men have the appearance of tramps, and it is thought that they may be three of the four men who met Tracy at Black river bridge Monday night and walked through Renton in the convict's company.

Mayor Ames Arraigned.

Minneapolis, July 10.—When Mayor Ames was arraigned in court on two indictments, each charging that he received $15 for "protection" on certain dates named from the keeper of a house of ill-repute, his attorney denounced the charges as "infamous and trivial," and demanded immediate trial He urged this further on the ground that it was for the public interests that the case against the chief executive officer of the city should be settled at once Judge Harrison said that the court was no respecter of persons and the case must take its turn with the others. He set the case for trial July 14, and fixed bail at $5,000, which was promptly furnished.

Afro-American Council.

St Paul, July 10. — The National Afro-American council met in this city Bishop Alexander Walters, president, called the council to order, and after prayer by Bishop Clinton there were addresses of welcome by Mayor Smith, Governor Van Sant, Harry Shepherd, Mrs J E Porter and Rev Timothy Reeves Responses were made by Dr. Mason of New York Mrs Samuel E Yates of Kansas City and Messrs Fortune and Pledger In the afternoon the delegates listened to the annual address of President Walters and the reports of officers.

"Buffalo" Jones Appointed.

Washington, July 10 — Charles J Jones, popularly known as "Buffalo" Jones was appointed buffalo warden for Yellowstone park Mr Jones has devoted much attention to the preservation of the American bison and was largely instrumental in securing an appropriation during the last session of congress for the establishment of a government buffalo ranch in the Yellowstone park This establishment will be in Mr Jones charge.

To Refund Revenue Tax.

Washington, July 10.—The treasury department has issued regulations for the refund of the taxes collected under the war revenue act upon "legacies and bequests for uses of religious, charitable or educational character, for the encouragement of art," etc. The refund was provided for in the act of June 27, 1902

COLUMBUS GROVE

Elks are Attending the Big Carnival.

Small Pox Scare in Ottawa has Abated—Columbus Grove News.

Columbus Grove, July 10.—The people here are taking more than passing interest in the Elks' carnival which is being held at Lima. But a day or evening passes without this place is represented among the big crowds. Today and tonight the largest number who have yet gone will be in the city to participate in the festivities.

Smallpox in Ottawa is now practically an unknown thing. Morrison's band is now holding rehearsals as that company M is drilling, preparatory to going into camp, and business and society is going on as before the scare. Ottawa had just two cases in the suburbs of the little city, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Justice D. A. Carr is in Dayton, Ohio, this week, attending the grand encampment of Odd Fellows as a representative from district No. 34.

The large drill which is being used in putting down the test well caught fire while work was going on, breaking the drilling apparatus. Work was suspended pending improvements, which were made at Lima. Work on the well has been resumed. The well is now down about 60 feet, and a test will be made of it yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Frank Viers, who was one of Mrs. Ethel Viers' house party, has gone to Ottawa, Ill. His daughter, Miss Ethel Viers, has gone to Lima to visit.

Mrs. N. S. Ogan and son, Silas, were among the throng of visitors who attended the carnival, going to Lima on business and pleasure combined.

Mrs. C. H. Jones and daughters are expected home the latter part of the week from a delightful visit with relatives and friends in Sidney.

Simon Lewis and family now occupy the property owned by Miss Mary Fuller on Broadway. The Lewis propery on east North street, which was recently purchased by J. L. Shaw, is now occupied by the Shaw family.

Miss Edith Lybarger, of Hicksville, who has been visting in the city for two weeks, has prolonged her visit, and will remain until the latter part of the month to pay her many friends throughout the city a brief visit. Miss Lybarger came on tobe a member of Mrs. Sarah Viers' house party.

Mrs. Grace Albert and daughter, who have been visiting in the city, have returned to their home in Dayton.

OIL DEAL ON

Which, when Consummated, will Transfer About 20 Wells—Oil News.

been settled to the satisfaction of the parties concerned this week, but which will probably be carried to a conclusion without delay. Newcomer & McStay, who held leases on the I. W. Knight and A. Knight farms of 40 acres in section 1 Henry township and 40 acres in section 36 Liberty, were to dispose of their holdings to the Northern Oil Co. There are about 20 wells on the property doing probably between 75 and 100 barrels per day, but the amount of consideration had not yet been decided.

In Bloom township, E. Priddy is drilling well No. 8 on the I. Whitacre farm, section 5, and the Ohio Oil Co. is drilling No. 7, F. M. Wirick, same section, while C. A. Browning has No. 8 on the E. Smith under way.

In section 6, the Ohio Oil Co. has the rig up for a new well on the Skidmore & Thatcher property, which will be their No 19. Connelly & Winters are also drilling No. 24, R. Whitacre, and on the H. S. Walbridge farm, C. A. Duke has No. 9 nearing completion.

D. Hiesting is drilling his 11th well on the Hiesting fee in section 7 Bloom. In section 17, the Ohio Oil Co. has finished its No. 1, S. Ketzenberger, just south of the good well on the Jones farm, and got what appears to be a worthless well. It started off with salt water, but this was pumped off in a short time, and the well will hardly make any oil.

In section 23, the Ohio Oil Co., is drilling No. 3, G. W. Slotterback, and the same company has two wells drilling in section 32, their No. 8, E. Goldner and No. 9, E. Simon. The Exchange Oil company is also drilling No. 7, I. Simon, in the latter section.

In section 33, A. J. Steele, is drilling second wells on the M. A. Echman and B. & O. Ry. lands, and in section 34 W. Leathers is drilling No. 3, W. Leathers.

In Portage township, H. W. Kelsey & Co., have just completed No. 1 well on the L. H. Platt farm, section 14, getting a very small producer, its first day's gauge being only 5 barrels. In section 22 Johnson & Co have one which was not much better, their No 4 on the S. G. Pall farm, its initial production being 4 barrels. D. W. Miller is drilling No 4, H. R. Reynolds in section 24.

In section 30, Wm. T. Jobb has completed No. 2 well on the J. B. Bigelow farm, getting a 25 barrel producer, and is drilling No 10.

The Exchange Oil Co. has completed No. 12, on the H. Myers farm, section 31, getting a copious supply of salt water as a starter, and No. 26 and 27 are still drilling. The same company has No 25, on the I. Nasterdale farm nearing completion and is drilling No 27.

The Ohio Oil company is drilling No 8, on the A. B. Miller farm, section 32, while in the same section, C. A. Browning & Co. have No. 2, John Lee under way. In section 33 Maynard & Co. are drilling a No 1 well on the G. N. Shatzel farm, in territory which was considered drilled out two years ago.

In Wood County.

None of the new wells in the district surrounding North Baltimore have been of such interest as would excite comment, most of the development work will be within the defined limits of the productive area. The Henry-Wood Oil Company which has been engineering the test on the E. P. Reigle farm, section 1 Jackson township, about 10 miles west of town, is doing nothing of late and has made little progress with its work of production. The first well has been shut down for the past month and a half while the company was being incorporated, and now it is said they are planning to erect a rig over an old hole which has been drilled in the early days of the field, with the intention of drilling it deeper in the hope of striking some oil.

General Field Work.

In Henry township, the Maple Grove Oil Co. has lost a string of tools in their second well on the Whitten farm and abandoned the hole. On the Campbell they have another well which has been pumping salt water all summer but as yet is showing no traces of oil.

On the B. A. Lawrence farm, section 24 Henry, the Ohio Oil Co. is drilling No. 10, and Hendrick & Co. are drilling No. 8 and have the rig up for No. 9 on the same farm. At No. 8 the well was drilled into the sand and an effort made to shoot it. Part of the shot was put in and more was started down, but struck an obstruction and exploded, blowing the top off the rig and creating general excitement.

The Ohio Oil Co. is drilling No. 15 on the J. Neier farm, section 10, which is now just about completed, and also has No. 7, S. Hammon, section 15, in the sand. In the latter section C. A. Browning is drilling No. 18 Hattie Browning.

In section 10, the Consolidated Oil Co. has completed its No. 4, E. Peters, a 10-barreler; in section 4, Smith, Jamison & Co. have one of similar calibre in their No. 4 F. Sommers, and in section 9, Montgomery & Co. have a dry hole at their No. 5 John J. Faylor.

The Ohio Oil Co's No. 13 A. G. Henry, section 27, has been shut down after making but a small production, and their No. 8 M. Hugell, section 35, is still drilling. S. E. Niece is also drilling his No. 6 on the B. & O. lands, in section 31.

In Bloom Township.

In section 19 Bloom, O. A. Browning & Co. have been trying to drill their No. 16, C. Hamman, all summer, and have moved the rig on account of a crooked hole. No. 17 was completed a short time ago and made 90 barrels the first day.

The Cygnet Field.

In the southern end of Wood county there has not been any unusual activity during the past few weeks, but a large number of wells are being drilled in territory which has previously been pretty thoroughly tested.

PIONEER

Of Shawnee Township Passes Away.

Newton Hover Dies of Cancer at Advanced Age.

Was Proprietor of the First Drug Store That Was Opened in This City—Funeral Tomorrow Afternoon.

Newton Hover, one of the oldest pioneers of this city and county and for many years one of the most prominent and prosperous farmers in Shawnee township, died at his home about three miles southwest of this city at 6.30 o'clock last evening, his death being due to the ravages of a cancer. The funeral services will be held at the Shawnee church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the remains will be consigned to rest in the Shawnee cemetery.

The deceased was born December 18, 1820, and came to this county in 1835. He had the distinction of being one of the first physicians in the city and opened the first drug store that was ever conducted in Lima. He is survived by two sons, F. H. Hover, of Shawnee township, and J. J. Hover, of this city. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Lathrop, of Amanda township, and one brother, W. U. Hover, of Denver, Colorado.

The relatives of the deceased request that no flowers be sent.

A little life may be sacrificed to an hour's delay. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhoea come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

Fearful Scene

Witnessed at Animal Performance.

Albert Hagenbach Attacked by the Ever Vicious Sultana.

Boy Armed with a Stick Causes an Exhibition that was not on the Bill at the Elks' Carnival.

Intense excitement reigned in the trained wild animal show on the esplanade at the Elks' Carnival shortly after five o'clock yesterday afternoon, and that no fatality ensued seemed a miracle.

At the time mentioned, a large crowd was present witnessing the performance of Albert Hagenbach, in the cage containing the group of five lions. He had about concluded his act, when, with a roar, the lioness, Sultana, sprang at him, striking his right knee with her ponderous paw. Always on the alert for such attacks, Hagenbach drew his revolver, and began firing in the air, at the same time using his whip on the beast, which seemed ready for another spring. People in the audience turned their heads away, dreading to witness what appeared to be inevitable death for the fearless trainer. Attendants in the show seized long iron rods, and finally succeeded in forcing Sultana into a corner, thus giving Hagenbach an opportunity to escape from the cage.

As he came from the door, he fell, exhausted from the pain of the wound and the terrible struggle. Medical attention was summoned, and the wound dressed. Unless blood poisoning ensues, no serious results are anticipated. During the struggle, the other four lions in the cage were quiet, and showed no disposition to join Sultana in her fight.

Sultana of late has shown signs of viciousness. It developed that her sudden anger was caused by a small boy in the audience who jabbed her with a stick. Hagenbach declares he will resume his place tonight.

Perils of the Alps..

Large Increase of Death Roll In Recent Years

THE Alpine mountain climbing season opened this year with an early tragedy in which two lives were lost. In spite of all precautions on the part of the Swiss authorities it is quite probable that other accidents will follow.

Climbing the Alps is still a dangerous pastime, it seems. It is perilous fun, at least for those who are physically unfit. Yet each summer scores of tourists, among them many Americans, nonchalantly risk their lives every day simply because it is considered "the proper thing" to have scaled an Alpine peak. Hundreds more would take the same risk were it not for the fact that Alpine guides have a high regard for the safety of their own necks and often decline the task of piloting over dizzy ledges stout, foolish middle aged gentlemen with more dollars than sense, more money than muscle.

A successful, level headed business man would hardly be induced to climb out of his attic window, "shin" up the edge of a slate roof and walk the length of the ridgepole. But let him get into Switzerland, let him listen to tourists yarns, allow him to contract the Alpine climbing fever, and he is willing to attempt feats which would make walking a ridgepole seem tame indeed.

Notwithstanding the number of accidents that attest to the danger of climbing the Alps the [illegible] of climbers [illegible] The report of the [illegible] shows that [illegible] lives during 1901 while climbing the Alps, more than double the number for the previous year.

Most of the accidents occurred in the neighborhood of Chamounix and were due to the foolhardiness and inexperience of tourists. The number of accidents suffered by experienced climbers was comparatively small. The increase of fatalities would seem, therefore, to be not so much a question of danger as of inexperience and folly.

Switzerland and the Tyrol are becoming the holiday ground for more and more people every year. From every part of the world the tourists come, enthusiastic to hunt the place of "the white death," the terrible name that clings about the glaciers and precipices of the Alpine passes.

During the year 1901 more than 2,000,000 sightseers registered in the Alpine districts of Switzerland. In view of this great influx of visitors the increased number of accidents is exactly what might have been expected.

Where one tourist attempted to scale a rocky mountain side or a glacier ten years ago there are twenty or perhaps fifty nowadays. It is estimated that 50 per cent of the accidents last year occurred to persons who were in Switzerland for the first time. With the delusion that anybody with an alpenstock and a pair of hobnailed boots can scale a precipice, these inexperienced climbers are so confident of their own ability that they often will not take the precaution to hire a competent guide.

The first recorded death of an American was on Aug 21 1901. Mrs. Wickham Smith of Brooklyn had started for a trip over the Furka pass. She longed to see the great ice cavern rising in a majestic blue arch above a rushing stream of the river Rhone. In this instance the accident that led to death was in nowise due to the carelessness of the victim nor is it frequent in its happening in the Alps. It came unforseen and unheralded. As Mrs. Smith, filled with enthusiasm and reverence, stood at the entrance of the grotto she was struck by a huge falling sheet of ice. The force of the blow was tremendous, felling her instantly.

Dr. W. M. Crook of England, secretary of an Alpine club and a man of long experience in climbing, slipped on a glacier of the Matterhorn last August and fell down a crevasse in which the snow was sixty feet deep. He was completely buried and lay there helpless for four hours until rescued by his companions. He lived only a few days.

About the same time Herr Hitthaler, president of an Alpine club in Vienna, fell over a precipice on the Hitthaler-Weg, which was named after him during the last ten years. He was instantly killed. The same day two members of the club, an artist named Spotel and an official named Melzer, started up the Karwendelgeberg and never returned. The mountains were thoroughly searched, but no traces of their bodies were found.

The number of people who are missing is extraordinary. Tourists start off cheerfully and recklessly and are never seen again. Of the 119 fatalities last year only about one third of the bodies were recovered.

The large number of fatalities last year roused the Alpine Rescue society to introduce new measures to protect amateur mountain climbers in spite of themselves. The Swiss Alpine club is also taking measures in the same direction. Cabins are being erected in dangerous places, and signboards warning against hidden crevasses have been set up.

Since 1860 the fatal accidents that have occurred upon the Swiss mountains up to the end of the century made a total of nearly 200. The last two seasons have about equaled that number, so it is imperative that the tourist be guarded against the consequences of his own folly.

THE CLUMSY MAN.

You Can Never Be Sure of What His Next Break Will Be.

The great virtue about the really clumsy man is that he never exhausts his capabilities. When you think that the bedrock is reached, there is still a lower depth. If a detrimental relative should exist, the clumsy man asks after his health with great particularity and will not be satisfied until he receives a full and detailed reply. Should there be any incident in your past which everybody has generously agreed to forget it is the clumsy man who seizes the one, the inevitable opportunity, when the club is at its fullest and says loudly: "Somebody was talking the other day about that unfortunate little affair of yours in '95. Now tell me!"

When on meeting him you say casually and with no desire for information, "How are you?" he insists on giving you complete data, and he is as full of small complaints as a refractory pauper. It is only fair to add that he will ask affectionately after the colds of yesteryear, and his favorite locale for this is at the corner of a drafty street. He might be subsidized by influenza or he might get a commission on sore throats from his eagerness to pin you into the most dangerous position that can be discovered.

One desires an adequate amount of sympathy in distress, but our man always goes a little beyond this point. You are growing thin, and he says that you are wasting away to a shadow. You are growing stout, and he tells an unamusing anecdote about apoplexy. He can be more critical than a hairdresser if occasion gives the least excuse.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Cholera Infantum

This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured however when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil as directed with each bottle and a cure is certain. For sale by Wm. M. Slight injuries often [illegible] and cause several days loss of time and when blood poison develops sometimes result in the loss of a limb or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation and prevents any danger of blood poison. For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

The Standing Army.

Old Lady—Poor fellow. And so you are a soldier?

Corporal Cannon—Yes, ma'am.

Old Lady—I'm awfully sorry for you. My, my, to think they never allow you to sit down!

Corporal Cannon—Ma'am?

Old Lady—I said I was sorry for you and it is heartless and cruel for the government to keep a standing army all the time.

Corporal Cannon—Ma'am? Oh, yes, ma'am, thank you.—London Chums.

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty, of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver Remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles, I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by H. F. Vortkamp, corner North and Main streets.

THE JEWISH PROBLEM

Events That Are Attracting Universal Attention.

GREAT NEED OF ORGANIZATION.

An Appeal For It Made by Leo N. Levi at a Meeting of the Order of B'nai B'rith in New York—Work of the Society to Be Extended—Many Schools and Asylums Built.

B'nai B'rith, a Jewish secret organization with a membership of more than 30,000, had an open meeting the other evening in the hall of the Educational alliance at East Broadway and Jefferson street, New York. Simon Roeder, president of Justice lodge, presided, says the New York Times. The occasion was enlivened by the band of the Hebrew Sheltering Guardian society, which rendered patriotic and popular music.

J. B. Klein, president of District No. 1, said that the society has built schools of learning, asylums and manual and training schools throughout the world. He directed particular attention to the Home For the Aged and Infirm in Yonkers. He said that the society proposes to extend the sphere of its usefulness in New York city, particularly among the poor of the east side.

Leo N. Levi, president of the executive committee of the order, was the principal speaker. He said in part:

"There is an irrepressible interest all over the world in the Jewish question. There are few among our co-religionists who understand that we are passing through events that are surpassing in their importance the exodus from Egypt and the expulsion of the Jews from Spain. Certainly those who watch and think must discover a similarity in the great movement of the Jews from the eastern to the western hemisphere. The Jews in their exodus from Egypt and Spain did not accomplish their hopeful journeys and plan for them in a night. There had first to be organization and mutual help.

"During the last twenty-five years you have participated in another great migration of the Jews. Hundreds of thousands were driven from Russia, Roumania and other countries to seek homes in another clime, where they found liberty of life, property and conscience. The great majority sought refuge and found it under this flag."

The speaker pointed to the stars and stripes above him, and he was greeted with applause that was continued for several minutes.

"I doubt not," he continued, "that the immigrants of today in their far-away homes thought of the Jews here as apostates and persons not observing the same rites of the religion of the fathers. The Jews of western Europe and those here, more American than Jew, looked on those from the east as bigots. It has required contact for them to recognize their differences and their similarities and the main fact that they are different from all other men, as they are Jews. They have a common ancestry and laws; they recognize that hostility surrounds them, a hostility directed against them not because they are foreigners, but because they are Jews; they have the same identical past, present and future.

"It is time, if we are learning anything from the centuries and if we are to fulfill the measure of our possibilities, that we prepare, that we no longer rely on outside influence, the interference of our Creator, but learn that we have within ourselves the element of safety, progress and success.

"Perhaps it is true, as in Biblical times, that we have been a stiff necked people, each too prone to set up a law for himself and not to recognize the laws of the majority of the community. Let those who feel themselves superior amid the poverty of this part of the city remember that the Jews here preserve the old customs, the love and respect of the child for the parents and the veneration of the elders. And, you of this part of the town who suspect those in other walks of life because of their apparent indifference to what you think sacred, remember that in their breasts are Jewish hearts eager to help all Jews.

"We cannot accomplish our great purpose without organization. Sixty years ago there was a condition of affairs similar to today, but differing in degree. The problem of the race now concerns thousands, with different languages and different ideas of worship. The thought came to a few that there should be a union and not discord; that the sons of the covenant should come together with the purpose not only to benefit the members of the B'nai B'rith, but to help the weak, and that all work together as the servants of Israel, in fraternity, harmony and American assimilation. You who are proud that you are Jews and do not regard your noble lineage as an impediment, listen to the cry of your brethren and answer, 'I have heard you, and I come.'"

The other speakers were Dr. Isidor Singer, John Gruenberg and the Rev. H. S. Mazlinski.

Pat Sheedy Now a Promoter.

Patrick F. Sheedy sailed recently for London on the American liner St. Louis. He will promote a company to mine emeralds in Argentina, says the New York Times. Asked about the gambling business, Mr. Sheedy said that he was out of it for good. "But," he added, "I want it understood that I have not reformed. No reform for mine."

New Instrument For Surgeons.

Among new surgical instruments is a steam saw for removing diseased parts of the liver.

Fortune Telling

does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness — womanly health. There is many a woman whose future seems absolutely unclouded who is marked by her own condition for future disappointment and distress.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health may be retained or regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss M. Fyfe, of Orilla, Simcoe Co., Ontario, "and two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets' as you advised for congestion of uterus, ovaries, and weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of restoring me to good health again, which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you very much for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

Krause's Headache Capsules

Were the first headache capsules put on the market. Their immediate success resulted in a host of imitations containing antipyrine, chloral, morphine and other injurious drugs purporting to be "just as good." Avoid these imitations and insist on your having Krause's, which speedily cure the most severe cases and leaves no bad after effects. Price 25c. Sold by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

A Mill Test.

Blue litmus paper will turn red in the presence of an acid, so that by testing a drop of milk that is under suspicion the matter can be settled at once without tasting. More than this, it will report the presence of the acid when it cannot be discovered by taste and will prevent the spoiling of many a pudding and custard. When sour milk and soda are used, the paper will show just when the soda neutralizes the acid. In this case the red litmus paper is of use, since if too much soda has been added the red paper will turn blue. This will bring to an end the biscuits dotted with brown soda spots.

A STARTLING REPORT

One That Speaks Volumes—Tells of a Great Good Done—Of a Certain Cure—For the Nervous—Weak and Sleepless.

Mr. C. R. Seeds, of 725 east Elm street, Lima, Ohio, says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are a fine medicine. They give one good steady nerves, good general strength and splendid sleep. We have used the box we got at Melville's drug store in two cases and it was equally good in both cases. For nervous, weak, sleepless people it is great and we won't be without them in the future."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package. 2816

KING EDWARD'S AILMENT.

His Physician, Sir Frederick Treves, Wrote Interestingly of It.

What physicians regard as one of the most exhaustive essays written on the subject of perityphlitis is that of Sir Frederick Treves, published in Thomas Clifford Allbutt's "System of Medicine." Every phase of the malady is treated in that essay, and many of the typical cases cited bear remarkable similarity to that of King Edward, says the Detroit Free Press. The following are some extracts from that essay of interest to laymen:

Perityphlitis represents the very commonest variety of peritonitis, and the remarkable frequency of inflammation in this position is due to the fact that the appendix is one of the weakest points within the abdomen. Perityphlitis may be met in patients of all ages. Cases have been recorded in children respectively seven and thirteen months of age. On the other hand, the disease has been met with in patients of advanced age. The great proportion of cases occur in young adults, and the period of greatest frequency is between ten and twenty. The following table is compiled by Dr. Hawkins and Dr. Fritz, the total being 452 cases:

	Proportion of cases. Per cent.
5 to 10 years	10.8
10 to 20 years	40.7
20 to 30 years	29.0
30 to 40 years	11.5
40 to 50 years	4.6
Over 50 years	3.4

A large proportion of the subjects of perityphlitis, especially the subjects above the age of twenty, are chronic dyspeptics. They bolt their food or their meals are irregular or they hurry over their meals or they begin active work as soon as their repast is finished. Many of these people have a morbid appetite; many of them are aware that an attack is generally preceded by an aggravation of the dyspeptic symptoms. The holiday season is generally very productive of cases of perityphlitis. Certain of the patients are nervous persons, who seem to be victims of a kind of nervous dyspepsia, in the second place, the history of an indigestible meal is comparatively frequent in the account of events which immediately precede the actual attack.

The general features of an attack are sudden severe abdominal pains.

NEWSBOYS TO HAVE A PAPER

President Roosevelt One of the Contributors.

Newsboys of Pittsburg will have a chance to become capitalists, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. There are plans on foot to give them an interest in a newspaper and a book. Mrs. Clara U. Frazer is the promoter of the novel scheme, and business men are interested. The boys are to have a magazine that is to be their own organ, and they will do their own playing. Mrs. Frazer will edit the magazine. President Roosevelt is a contributor. He has written a letter to "Our Boys," which is to be the name of the new magazine, full of good, kindly sense. Briefly the plan is as follows:

The magazine will sell for 10 cents a copy. The boys who sell it pay 6 cents a copy. This means 4 cents a copy profit for the boy. The boy who sells twenty-five copies has a dollar banked for him in addition to the dollar he has earned on the street. This means that what he actually pays for the magazine is 2 cents, and of the remaining 8 cents four he receives at once and four he banks. The money is banked for the boys in their own name, but in care of a committee composed of men high up in the financial and social world. Of the money banked the boys cannot get a cent until they have reached the age of twenty-one. There will be a fat little bank account waiting for the boy who hustles while he waits.

The magazine published recently an edition of 10,000 copies.

LONG RIDE FOR ROOSEVELT

Trip of One Hundred Miles Through Wyoming Planned.

A special from Washington to the New York World says that President Roosevelt is contemplating a horseback trip of more than a hundred miles through a wild and picturesque section of Wyoming. Senator Warren suggested this as a novel feature of the president's western trip this summer, and it has appealed strongly to him.

Senator Warren desires the president to visit Wyoming while "swinging round the circle." He is planning for the president to enter the state by railroad, and while his train is being switched around to another portion of the state Mr. Roosevelt and those of his party who take pleasure in horseback riding will cover the intervening distance on horseback.

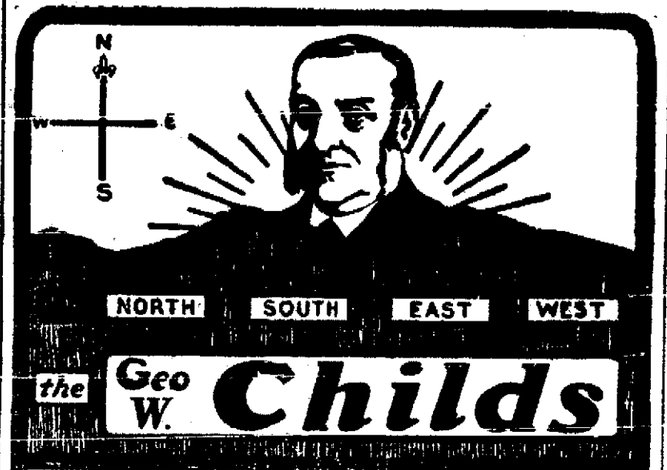

JAPAN WANTS PHILIPPINES.

Mikado's Empire Ready to Negotiate For Archipelago.

A Chicago special to the Philadelphia Press states that S. Goto, Japanese governor of Formosa, says Uncle Sam can find a ready market for the Philippines in the mikado's empire. Japan would like to have the Philippine Islands. Said Dr. Goto:

"We want them, need them and are willing to negotiate with the United States for them, but we cannot buy them now.

"Should the United States desire to get rid of the islands they have a ready purchaser in Japan when the time comes that we can pay for the property. I will discuss the matter with the chief executive of the United States when I reach Washington."

A UNIQUE DORMITORY.

One That Is Owned by the University of the South.

Dean Hoffman was noted for charitable impulses, which his large income allowed him to indulge in. Some years ago the dean invested heavily in land in a small southern town which was then enjoying a "boom" period. Among the dean's other investments was a beautiful little hotel, exquisitely appointed and perfect in every detail. After awhile the "boom" fell through, and the little hotel became a losing investment.

At this time the chancellor of the University of the South, an old friend of Dean Hoffman, was on a hunting trip with him in the mountains of North Carolina.

"We are badly in need of a dormitory down at Suwanee," said the chancellor.

"Yes," said Hoffman and sat thinking for a moment. "Well, you can have the hotel building down at B——," naming the town. "You can take it to pieces and move it to Suwanee. It ought to make a pretty little dormitory."

The chancellor was greatly pleased and made all the arrangements to move the hotel, when, to his astonishment, the citizens of the town obtained an injunction against its removal on the grounds that the hotel in a way was public property and that to remove it would leave the town without any hotel accommodations. A legal fight followed, but the university won out in the end. So the University of the South revels in the luxury of the most unique dormitory in the world.—New York Times.

Insomnia Remedies.

However hopeless you may consider your case, be slow to fly to drugs for relief from insomnia. A rubber bag full of broken ice applied to the back of the neck and a hot water bag at the feet are highly recommended as a remedy for insomnia even in obstinate cases. The circulation is equalized by this treatment.

The secret of hot milk cure also recommended for sufferers from insomnia lies in sipping the beverage. The act of slowly swallowing the liquid is soothing in its effect and generally produces the much desired drowsy feeling which leads to the coveted sleep.

NO FALSE CLAIMS.

The proprietors of Foley's Honey and Tar do not advertise this as a "sure cure for consumption." They do not claim it will cure this dread complaint in advanced cases, but do possitively assert that it will cure in the earlier stages and never fails to give comfort and relief in the worst cases. Foley's Honey and Tar is without doubt the greatest throat and lung remedy. Refuse substitutes. For sale by H. F. Vortkamp, corner North and Main streets.

Putting It Gently.

"But is she pretty?"

"Well, I don't believe in talking about a girl's looks behind her back. Her father's worth about $20,000,000, and they've taken her to Europe twice without bringing back any titles, so you can form your own opinion."—Chicago Record-Herald.

ELKS'

Day Brings Out a Big Crowd

Sidney Lodge

Here With the Famous Reed Band.

Rain Prevented the Stadium Performance Again Last Night.

St. Marys Delegation Arrives on a Special Car Accompanied by an Excellent Band — Carnival News.

Today the Elks have the town, and it is their day at the carnival. Early morning trains brought in large crowds from surrounding towns, and indications are that the attendance tonight will eclipse any crowd ever assembled in Lima. Special attractions have been prepared for the visiting antlered knights and their families, and a right royal time is in store for all who attend.

The morning trains over the P. Ft. W. & C. brought in delegations of Elks and friends from Ft. Wayne, Delphos, Van Wert and Ada and this afternoon at 12:10 the Sidney lodge arrived over the C. H. & D., accompanied by the famous Reed band. The delegation was met at the depot by a reception committee and was escorted to the Lima House, where an excellent dinner was served, district deputy J. W. Mowen presiding as toastmaster.

At 1:45 o'clock a special car over the Western Ohio brought in a large delegation of the St. Marys members and the lodge who had their car beautifully decorated and were accompanied by the Woodmen of the World band from that city. A street parade was headed by the Reed band and members of Sidney lodge leading while the St. Marys delegation and band marched to the rear. The line of march terminated at the carnival grounds and by the time the visiting delegations had all arrived the midway was crowded with several thousand people.

Last night was another rainy one and again the Stadium performance (Kilpatrick's ride the high dive and other outside exhibitions) had to be called. The grounds are in fine condition today and the cool weather makes the outlook more encouraging for the Elks than it has been at any time this week.

Saturday will be Toledo day and Strobel's band and the members of the order from that city will be here to attend the carnival.

Carnival Brevities.

The miniature glass steam engine in Stearns' glass blowers show, which was stolen during the storm Monday evening, has been repaired and is again on exhibition.

Those citizens of Lima who have visited the carnival are loud in their praise of the excellent management and morality of each show. There is no entertainment on the grounds that does not excel in merit any thing ever seen here. Messrs. Gaskill and Mundy have been the recipients of many compliments upon their attractions.

UNANIMOUS

Request Made for the Return of Dr. Harshbarger.

A feature of the Methodist conference being held at Fostoria, of particular interest to members of the churches of Lima was the vote on the question of a pastor for the Fostoria church. It was unanimously decided to invite Dr. Harshbarger to remain for another year. The Dr. is well known in Lima where he is held in as high appreciation as in the city where he has been preaching. His congregation has grown very much attached to the sturdy, cultured Christian gentleman and is very desirous of securing his administrations for another year, should the demand it is not likely that the conference's request will be refused.

TONGUE

Broke and Started a Bad Runaway.

Ed. Hiner Injured at Lewiston Reservoir

But the Latest Word from There Gives Assurance That He Escaped Without Any Serious Injuries.

A telegram from Lewistown reservoir this morning bearing the meager announcement that Ed. Hiner had been hurt in a runaway, caused considerable anxiety among his friends, the rumor that he was seriously injured gaining credit as the news got into general circulation.

His father, Dr. S. B. Hiner, received only the briefest sort of a telegram from which nothing as to the nature or extent of the accident could be gathered and he lost no time in getting to his son's bedside. The telephone service was crippled by last night's storm out after taking it in a roundabout way the Times-Democrat succeeded in getting information from Reed's cottage at Indian lake that Mr. Hiner is not in a condition that need worry his host of friends in Lima.

The runaway was caused by the breaking of the tongue of the vehicle he was driving, the accident occurring on the dyke between Lake View and Russels Point. Mr. Hiner and his companion, who is the proprietor of Reed's cottage, were thrown out after the horse had run quite a distance, but aside from some painful bruises and the concussion resulting from the fall, neither were seriously hurt.

POLICE

Still Looking For Man With the Gun.

Findlay Officers Did Not Catch the Fugitive.

Henry Sirkes, the Youthful Thief, Released from Custody— News of the Day in Police Circles.

The shooting scrape that occurred on south Main street yesterday morning in which one unknown colored man shot and wounded George Wilson also colored is as far from being cleared up today as it was yesterday. The man who was wounded is still a patient in the city hospital, not seriously injured, and the man who fired the shot is still at large and there seems to be no probability that he will be apprehended. He is supposed to have left the city on board an L. E. & W. freight train but the Findlay police, who searched the train, found no trace of him.

Henry Sirks, the young boy who was arrested night before last for stealing $5.05, was arraigned before the mayor last evening and on account of his youth he was dismissed.

Detective Bensley, of the T. & O. C. railroad was a visitor at the police station today.

TEN THOUSAND

In Attendance at Young Peoples Meeting.

Providence, R. I., July 10.—With a season of praise and prayer participated in by nearly ten thousand men and women, the twelfth international convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, was formally opened today. The rally took place in the auditorium, which was decorated with the flag and banners of the various societies. The attendance was representative of every section of the country and the provinces of Canada, and most of the leading divines of the denomination and laymen and laywomen of national reputation were recognized upon the platform and through the audience. The Baptists of the city were out in force, and so thoroughly had the local committees performed their task that the preliminaries and program moved like clockwork. Conspicuous among the participants in the opening proceedings which consisted of welcoming addresses and responses interspersed with song and praise services, were Governor Kimball of Rhode Island, Mayor Granger, Dr. J. W. A. Stewart of Rochester, Dr. Russell H. Conwell of Philadelphia, Rev. J. D. Freeman of St. John's, Dr. J. S. Kirtley of Kansas City, Dr. J. O. Rust of Nashville, Dr. G. W. Truett of Dallas and Dr. Galusha Anderson of Chicago.

Trains Loaded

With People Attracted by the Carnival

And all Railroads Enjoyed a Liberal Patronage From Nearby Towns.

Next Sunday Offers Some Attractions to Those Who Want an Excursion Trip to Toledo and Other Points.

The early trains on the C. H. & D. L. E. & W. and Pennsylvania roads brought large delegations from towns and cities along the routes, the number of visitors being conservatively estimated at 1,000, with the promise of as many more before the day closes. Fort Wayne is interested in a carnival before the season closes and besides the special committee sent from there a good sized crowd came over this morning, being joined at Van Wert and Delphos by visitors running into the hundreds.

The Lake Erie and Western brought an enthusiastic party from Findlay and at Bluffton a delegation of fifty or more was picked up. From the south the C. H. & D. brought people from Troy, Piqua and Sidney, the new lodge from the last named city bringing a band and a full representation of the new order. The evening trains will be well patronized by those who expect to take in the night performance.

It was expected that the Western Ohio would be handicapped on account of last night's storm which did considerable damage, but a force of men was put to work clearing up the road bed which was blockaded by fallen trees at several points and cars are running as usual today bringing the crowds from Celina, Minster, St. Marys and Wapakoneta.

Sunday Excursions.

St. Marys ought to be full of visitors Sunday, of a cheap ride has anything to offer. The Lake Erie and Western has advertised a round trip rate of 25 cents which is a hint that there is to be no limit to the cut as a rival to the interurban line. A 75 cent rate has been established to Sandusky for the same day with 25 cents added for the Cedar Point end of it.

The C. H. & D. will have a rate of $1.25 to Toledo and a dollar excursion to Fort Wayne over the Tangent line from Ottawa. If there is a desire to spend the day away from home there are certainly plenty of opportunities offered by the railroads.

Horse's Strange Freak.

A lucky and peculiar accident occurred on the C. H. & D. between Troy and Piqua Monday night. "Beware," 2:19, a valuable race horse, the property of William O'Brien of North Lewiston, jumped over its keeper and out of the stable car. The keeper woke up at Piqua and found the horse had vanished. He got the section men together and the horse was located near Peterson's station. It is said it ran two miles along the track and over two cattle guards, but was not injured. The horse was taken to the Davis barn in Piqua. "Beware" is entered on the chamber of commerce stakes at Detroit and in a $5,000 stake run at Columbus. He was entered also at Sandusky, where he was shipped at noon Tuesday.

Pennsylvania Excursions.

The Pennsylvania company has booked the following excursions for the near future: On July 14 an excursion train of twelve or fourteen cars will be run from Delphos to Lima, Ohio, on July 19 the Big Four will turn over to the Pennsylvania a train load of excursionists from Anderson, Ind., going to Winona; on July 18 the company will run two excursion trains from Van Wert, Ohio, to Rome City and the company will also carry company G, Ohio National Guard, from Ada to Granville, Ohio.

What They Would Have Done.

The night operator of the Pennsylvania and Clover Leaf received a very bad fright Monday night, says the Delphos Herald. The Clover Leaf man had a few minutes off and went over to the Pennsylvania depot. The boys were seated in the office, exchanging opinions on various subjects, when their peace was disturbed by a peculiar noise at the ticket window. Glancing up they saw a man with his face so well shaded by his hat that his features were undistinguishable, while in his hand he held a weapon. The manager boldly demanded their money or their life. After a few moments of paralyzed silence the Clover Leaf man gathered up courage to tell the gentleman, in a respectful tone, that he was dead broke. The Pennsylvania operator was too frightened to move or speak and sat there with his hands above his head, his mouth agape and the cold sweat running down his back. After a short time of terrible suspense on the part of those in the office the bold highwayman pushed back his hat and revealed the features of one of Delphos' jokers covered with a broad smile. The boys are now telling what they would have done to him if they had had a gun.

General Notes.

Superintendent H. S. Storrs and Roadmaster Coulston of the L. E. & W. were in Findlay for a few hours yesterday on business.

VIOLIN CONCERT.

Lovers of music should attend Miss Vera Watson's violin concert at Congregational church, Friday evening, July 18th, tickets 25 cents. Her program will contain one or two numbers that Remania played here some years ago over which his audience went wild.

She will be assisted by Prof. Geo. P. Lull and others. Tickets on sale at Melville's drug store and Watson's grocery or residence.

AT THE BIG TENT.

The south side church of Christ has been preparing for some time to hold gospel meetings this summer. A large tent has been made at the church under the supervision of Pastor Sims. The seating capacity is over 1,000. The tent is now completed and will be pitched on south Main street between Circular and Kirby and a grand gospel opening will be given next Sunday morning and evening. Prof. Eaton, of Chicago, a singer of national reputation, will direct a chorus of 100 voices, supplemented by violin, horn, organ and other instruments thus making a joyful noise unto the Lord. Evangelist J. V. Updyke, who needs no introduction to Lima audiences will direct the forces and do the preaching. Easton, Updyke and Sims will be a strong trio of gospel workers. All God's people are invited to be present or pray at home for this effort to save souls. Take the south Main street car for the big tent meeting.

Subjects for the week in next Saturday's columns. It is also purposed by the ladies of the church to serve ice cream in the tent Saturday evening. All comers entertained and cooled off within.

WANT

To see the Struggle Ended

And the Fight

May be Called off at Wapakoneta.

The Three Candidates will Occupy the Same Position as Before

But in the Interest of the Party the Toledo Bee says that One of the Aspirants Should be Nominated.

The press is again beginning to take notice of the fact that the third session of the long-drawn-out congressional convention is to be held at Wapakoneta next Tuesday and the Toledo Bee has the following observations to make:

On next Tuesday, July 15, the Democrats of the Fourth district will reconvene for the third time, at Wapakoneta, the capital of Auglaize county, and endeavor to nominate a congressman. In all of the political history of the district, from the time of its organization to the present, there has never been a more protracted nor friendly contest than the one now on. At no time have these spirited conventions resulted to the political aggrandizement of the opposition party.

Loyalty to the cause of Democracy and to her nominee for congress has been the two cardinal points from which the fourth has never varied. This year sees no variation from these set principles. Knowing this, it is therefore not surprising that the nomination should be eagerly sought and stubbornly contested. The campaign in this district opened with the spring primaries, and when the convention first convened at Celina in June it was with the foregoing conclusion that a long-drawn-out contest would be the result. That conclusion has been amply sustained by the history of the convention. Over 500 ballots were taken at Celina and then the convention adjourned to meet at Sidney. Here the total was run up to 1,384 before an adjournment to Wapakoneta was made. Through all this fight the three candidates, Garber of Darke, Deitz of Mercer, and Aikins of Allen, maintained friendly relations that dissipated all hopes of the Republicans of a party split. Garber has led from the time of the first ballot with a total ranging from 113 to 118.

The convention has attracted state attention, not only for the length of the fight but by the shrewdly conceived plan of the Republicans to inject state factionalism. McLean and Johnson, into it. Recognizing this there is a disposition now being manifested among the leaders to get together and make the Wapakoneta convention short and sharp and nominate one of the three men now before the people.

The leaders realize that to prolong the struggle indefinitely would be establishing an undesirable precedent that might eventually seriously damage the party. Upon these grounds of party fealty this sentiment is based. To permit any semblance of state political factionalism to inject its venom into the district is decried by the leaders as dangerous and unnecessary. Heretofore the district has been free from such foreign substances that tend to pollute the body politic, and the result has been a Democratic majority of from five to eight thousand for both district and state tickets. To preserve its Gibraltaric reputation and unswerving loyalty to the cause of Democracy is an object of far greater importance to the masses than the petty differences of repute between self-appointed state leaders. With this object in view the men who have the best interests of the party at heart will not permit this fountain head of Jeffersonian principles to be polluted by the insidious wiles of scheming politicians. To achieve this end the Wapakoneta convention now in it is thought, end the struggle by naming one of the three men.

Makes the fires of life burn with a steady glow. Renews the golden, happy days of youth. That's what Rocky Mountain Tea does. 35 cents. For sale by H. F. Vortkamp, corner North and Main streets.

REASONS

Enough If the Wife Can Prove Them.

Sarah Allen Recites Her List of Marital Woes,

Accusing Her Husband of Beating Her into Insensibility and Finally Leaving His Home.

Sarah Allen married Thomas F. Allen at Kalamazoo, Michigan, [illegible] after a short experience as a wife prefers to revert again to a condition of single blessedness. If all she alleges in a petition for a divorce this morning, is true, the married state is certainly not the one to be preferred.

She charges that her husband has not contributed anything to her support, which compelled her to go out among strangers and work for her own living. In addition to this neglect of his duty he committed an assault on her in March, 1901, knocking her down and beating her into insensibility. In April following, he deserted her and since that time they have not been living together as husband and wife. Hughes & Voss represent the plaintiff.

Temporary Delay.

Rachel McCune and others have filed a suit to enjoin the Western Ohio Railway Company from entering upon out-lot 131 in Sidney in the construction of their railway. The plaintiffs say they are the owners of outlot 131 and that the Railway Company without right or authority have entered upon the premises begun to dig up the ground and are preparing to set poles, string wires, lay ties and operate an electric railway. Judge Cunningham granted a temporary restraining order pending the hearing of the case.—Sidney News.

Cut it Down.

Judge Cunningham heard [illegible] ment for a new trial in the case of Emerson Sherman vs. the Lima Electric Light Co. yesterday and at the conclusion overruled it. He sustained the verdict of the jury but reduced the amount of damages allowed from $5,111 to $3,500. The case will be appealed.
